

Week 2 Student Checklist

1. Please watch and listen to the Lecture on Tribal Constitutionalism, and consider the connections with your group discussion.
2. After that, please watch and listen to this week's Writing Lecture under the Week 2 module on Canvas.
3. To connect what you've learned from the Tribal Constitutionalism and Writing Lectures, carefully read the Hopi Constitution and practice rhetorically analyzing and "charting" the text. Discuss your findings with your pod. This will be very important practice for your final essay in this course.
4. Lastly, make sure to submit this week's journal blog post on Canvas under the "Discussions" section. This week's blog post will be graded and the prompt is: "What are the advantages or disadvantages of a constitution versus other ways of structuring a government? Try to think of this in terms of the Native community you come from." Your journal post must be 150-200 words (one solid paragraph), and then you must reply to 2 peers' journal post using the "Reply" box directly below their posts. Your reply posts should be 50-100 words each. Remember, you must submit your journal post PLUS two reply posts by Monday, November 12, 2018 at midnight (and they must fulfill the length requirements) to receive full credit for this assignment.
